Best Foot Forward Nov 20 2019 Liberty 'Libby' Lawrence adores designer labels - even though she can't afford many. And she especially loves shoes. Her favourites are Christian Louboutins - though not those fake ones Bianca Morrison-Wright gets from the market (the red paint rubs off the soles and everything!) She's working as a manager (albeit junior manager) at a London hotel, when the boss announces that there has been a theft from his office. Libby couldn't help noticing some strange marks on his carpet when she was called in for a reprimand recently (not that it was her fault, or anything) which lead her to surmise who the thief is. Detective Sergeant James Harper, the hunky policemen who is assigned the case, seems interested in her theory - until she names her number one suspect. Libby is devastated, not only because he doesn't believe her but - more importantly - that this guy knows NOTHING about shoes! As Libby struggles to convince the sergeant that her hunch is right, her boss that she's ready for promotion and herself that she's not really falling for the gorgeous copper, she realises that maybe she's wrong about the theft, she's not suited to the hotel industry and that the handsome hunk is married!

Youth Entrepreneurship and Local Development in Central and Eastern Europe Feb 22 2020 This book analyses the opportunities and barriers for youth entrepreneurship amid systemic change in Central and Eastern Europe. The authors cover different aspects of youth entrepreneurship and its contribution to the debate on youth unemployment in transition economies. The book discusses the wide-spread over-optimism regarding youth entrepreneurship, self-employment, and its impact on economic innovation and job creation, resulting from a disregard of critical contextual features and the characteristics of young entrepreneurs themselves. The authors give due acknowledgment of the importance of both factors and so fully understand the impediments to youth entrepreneurship, especially in a transition context. Furthermore, they seek to assess the opportunities and constraints of promotion policies in transition economies. Most importantly, the book provides the first empirical contribution to youth entrepreneurship in Central and Eastern Europe by offering a representative number of case studies. The book will be invaluable reading for scholars and students of transition and developing countries, particularly those with an interest in entrepreneurship.

Gravel Roads Aug 10 2021 The purpose of this manual is to provide clear and helpful information for maintaining gravel roads. Very little technical help is available to small agencies that are responsible for managing these roads. Gravel road maintenance has traditionally been "more of an art than a science" and very few formal standards exist. This manual contains guidelines to help answer the questions that arise concerning gravel road maintenance such as: What is enough surface crown? What is too much? What causes corrugation? The information is as nontechnical as possible without sacrificing clear guidelines and instructions on how to do the job right.

Kinship and Marriage in a New Guinea Village Dec 22 2019 The economic and political systems, legal code and religious beliefs of the people of the New Guinea village of Busama were analysed by H. Ian Hogbin in his earlier work, Transformation Scene (1951). In this new study founded on field work carried out at intervals over a seven year period, he is concerned primarily with the individual in his relations with the kinship structure. He takes a typical Busama through a full span of life, from birth through infancy, childhood, adolescence, and marriage to maturity and death; and he shows how each stage in the individual's life involves a change in his kinship relationships and responsibilities. This approach gives the professional anthropologist a set of carefully presented data analysed in line with the contemporary emphasis on seeing the relations between kin in the context of the local community, and it also offers the general reader an enjoyable and authentic account of the intimacies of Melanesian life.
